The accounting system has ledger accounts for all balance sheet and income statement. At the end of the accounting period, the ledger accounts are balanced and closed off. The trial balance is produced to show all the debits and credits. Income and expenses are transferred to the Profit and loss ledger account.

As you will see, the first digit might signify if the account is an asset, liability, etc. For example, if the first digit is a "1" it is an asset. If the first digit is a "5" it is an operating expense. A gap between account numbers allows for adding accounts in the future. The following is a partial listing of a sample chart of accounts.
